Madison Heights High School

Volume 9

4610 Madison Avenue
Anderson, Indiana

Paced by various individual and group achievements, 1964-65 was a year that inspired pride in Madison Heights.

After the plunge into consolidation with Anderson City Schools, Madison Heights emerged with a feeling of individuality and maturity. Striving for mental and physical excellence, 1705 students filled the year with unprecedented accomplishments.

In August enthusiastic band members marched to a second-place finish at the Indiana State Fair, missing a second consecutive championship by only one point. Weather-battered Pirate fans trekked central Indiana, following MH's first undefeated football team. Quickly becoming one of Madison Heights' finest organizations, the American Field Service brought further recognition to the school by sponsoring our fourth foreign exchange student. An impressive number of scholastic awards and achievements put Madison Heights in a class by itself academically. As National Merit Scholarship finalists, Sue Elsten and Doug Sparks neared the ultimate goal in academic accomplishments.

Intent on achieving excellence in every area of high school life, Madison Heights' students filled the year with efforts which enabled their school to "come into its own." Madison Heights High School, now a power among the state schools, is indeed capable of inspiring pride.

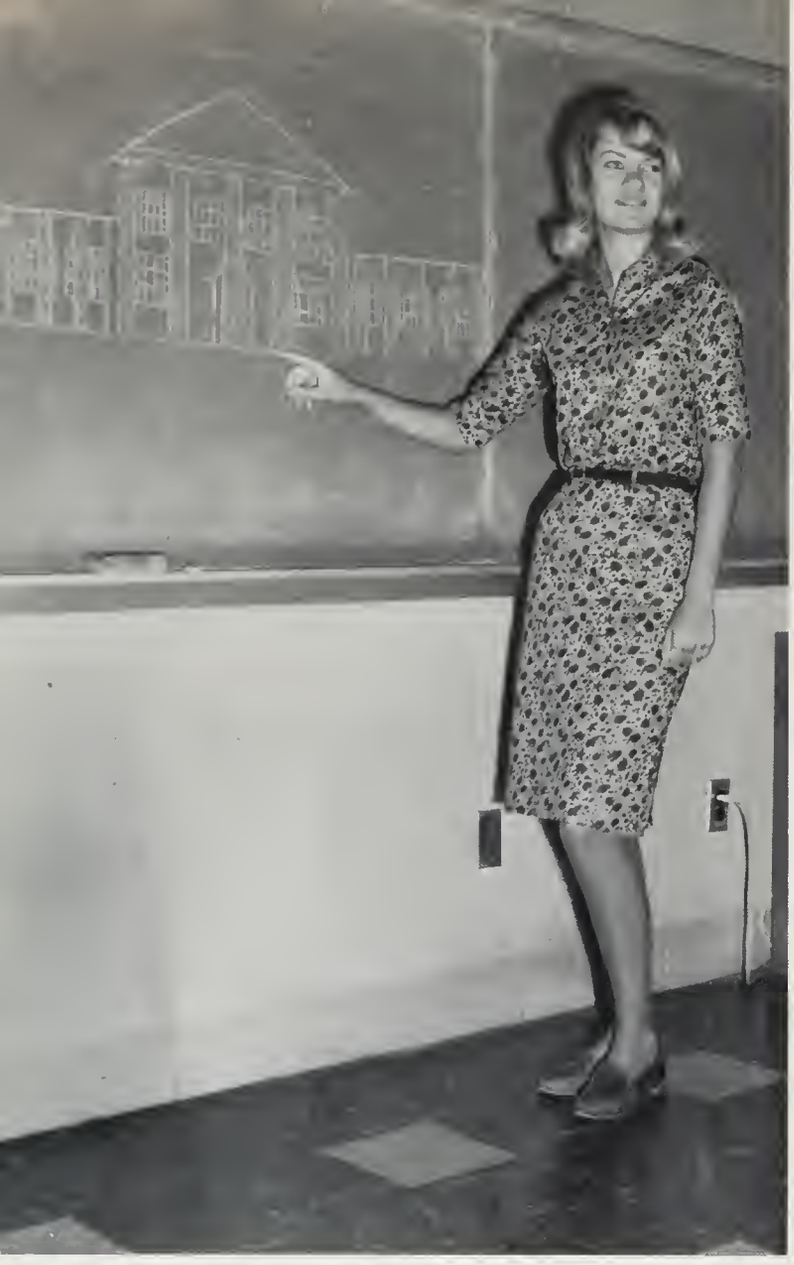
Interest in languages

For the first time French III was offered to high school students. Also a first was Spanish begun in junior high. French III students each had a pen pal from France with whom he corresponded in French. Studying Caesar's Gallic Wars and Roman Mythology added a cultural background in Latin.

Studying parts of speech, sentence structure, and vocabulary were naturally a major part of English and composition classes, as well as those of foreign languages. Students in English II conducted mock interviews in preparing for job applications.

In Journalism, the art of communicating differs from that of a composition class in that only the important facts are stressed. Journalism students not only wrote articles for the newspaper but also planned layout, make-up, and advertising.

Journalism students found several good stories for the newspaper through unusual talks given in speech class. Topics ranged from trapping an elephant to promoting school spirit.



Thoughts wander from vocabulary and grammar to a city of adventure. A dream takes on new dimensions as pupils show classmates their French dream house.

Themes take an extra amount of preparation and forethought. Minds are probed, searching for the right word to make the composition sparkle.

Within the pages of a textbook there is a passport to knowledge.

Sophomores took advantage of this passport by using it to tour the world. In world history pupils viewed civilizations of the past and the present.

Back home again, juniors traveled in the past to observe the development of the original thirteen colonies. Juniors value the courses in U. S. History because, as citizens of a great country, they are obligated to know something of its heritage.

After learning of America's heritage, seniors study government, attempting to understand the complex governmental system of our nation.

Problems of America's society and of the future were viewed in psychology, economics, and sociology.

Youth are encouraged to take more interest in current events by compiling data from various articles for reports in history classes.

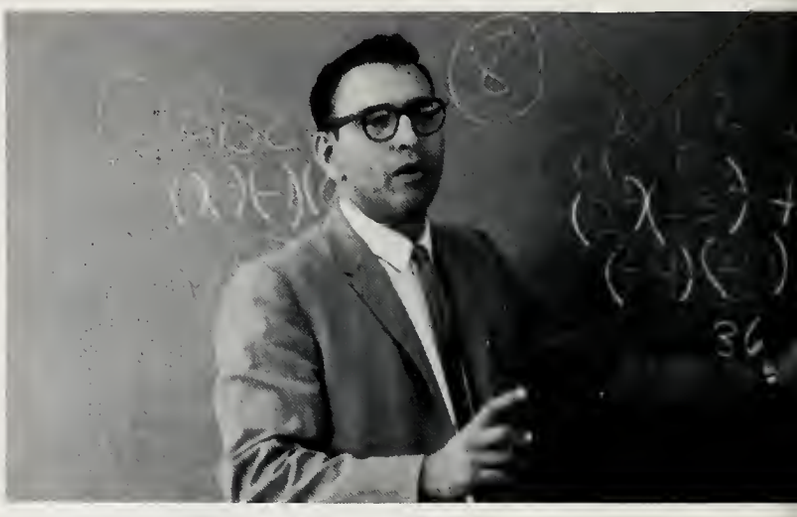
Math department preserves reputation by promoting

The mathematical world is an intriguing one, composed of a myriad of facts and procedures.

The use of a slide rule reduces the time needed to find the solutions to long, difficult problems.

The fascinating world of mathematics came alive for students as they grasped for the first time a new concept in algebra, geometry, or one of the more advanced math courses.

At Madison Heights the mathematics department does its best to prepare students for the classes which they will encounter in college and to provide students who will go directly in to the business world with a fundamental understanding of everyday mathematics. The newest method of teaching was originated by Yale University as an experimentol course for high school pupils and was termed the SMSG program. This was the second year that such a course had been offered at Madison Heights. All five-year math students and incoming freshmen had the opportunity to become a part of the SMSG program.



A, B, and C quickly became familiar terms to algebra classes as teachers lecture on solving problems by substituting values for the "unknown."

Baardwark helps clarify algebroic puzzlers and facilitates discussion af homework.

Physics affords an answer to questions involving the properties of force and laws of motion that affect our everyday lives.

Particles of a substance . . . acid . . . heat—resulting reactions make the mind probe into the why's and how's of chemistry.

Providing varied opportunities to apply mentally-acquired principles, a well-equipped laboratory is a great asset to students.

a new concept - - - the inner complexities of life

Bugs, ferns, frogs—the study of these organisms odds variety and interest to biology. Concepts come into focus by the use of the microscope.

From the study of the amaeba, simplest form of life, to the study of intricate body functions, the anatomy of life is viewed in freshman biology. Using a microscope to look into tiny worlds and dissecting lumbricus terrestris (the common earthworm) added variety to days pupils usually spent taking notes. Through leaf and insect collections the world took on new perspectives, while the inner complexities of life were probed by dissection.

Soon pupils were again entering the field of science —this time through chemistry. "Fiddle-Dee-Dee" was to be a familiar sound in Mr. Slone's classes, as well as the formula $6CO_2 + 6H_2O \Rightarrow 6CO_2 + C_6H_{12}O_6$ (photosynthesis) which was being rattled off from memory by many a student before the year was over. The lab experiments and demonstrations helped to give meaning to what would otherwise have been just "words" in the text. Sometimes these experiments proved to be disastrous, ending with an explosion.

Physics opened still another door of science as students studied the "how" and "why" of nonliving objects that are around us. Electricity, heat, light, and the properties of force that affect our everyday life were studied. Studying physics required the mind to build anew, to rise above the past.

Accurate chemical weights are important to the success of an experiment. Obtaining "just the right amount" often proves to be quite a tedious job.

Shop students are today's handymen and tomorrow's carpenters, home builders, and skilled machinists. The industrial arts students gained basic skills in wood working, foundry, machine shop, drafting, and auto mechanics. By combining technical information with actual work experiences, shop students acquired a realistic approach to the demands of the competitive skilled trades.

Just as the boys are the skilled workmen of the future, the girls are the home-makers of the next generation. The aroma of pies and cakes baking and meals cooking floated through the halls reminding students that the Home Economics Department was active. Girls learned to be excellent homemakers by taking courses in cooking, sewing, and home finance. This department also provided for a broad study of marriage and the problems it brings.

During the spring style show, sponsored by the Home Economics Department, the clothing students displayed evidence of their skill when they modeled their own creations. Students from the foods classes prepared the refreshments for the spring exhibition.

Somebody has to fix the cars! Boys learn to repair them in Mr. Smith's auto mechanics class. Fellows work on their own cars to gain valuable experience.

Under the Kennedy Physical Fitness Program, physical education students do daily workouts to "shape up" for everyday living and future athletic endeavors.

Students further adeptness

Madison Heights Physical Education Department is the only one in Indiana which promotes a student assistant program. Selected pupils assisted the instructor in gym work. Assistants who were seniors helped teach theory in the classroom.

The freshman classes had a divided schedule: three days a week in the gym and two days a week in the classroom. Included in the year's program for the girls were swimming, folk and modern dancing, and softball. The boys learned body control and balance through gymnastics and bowling. The importance of extending a helping hand was stressed as much as physical fitness.

A sound body stimulates clear thinking and alertness. Students who participate in driver's education acquired driving skills and a knowledge of laws and common courtesies. The occasional trips to Frisch's gave pupils excellent practice in maneuvering a car.

In the classroom students studied the mechanics of an automobile and how to keep it in good condition. At the end of a semester, every student waited to obtain a driver's license, an item which for today's youth is a step nearer adulthood.

It takes an extra amount of time, wind, and practice to play an instrument well.

What is the difference between the treble and bass clefs? Students who took music theory found the answer to this question and many others. They studied key signatures, music composition, and transposing.

The pupils in the training choirs put their knowledge to use by studying voice techniques, breath control, and correct posture. To gain experience, the training choirs performed at the Madison County Choral Festival.

Portrait painting and clay modeling were of great interest to students who took an art course. MH's academic artists also performed services for the school, such as making signs for classrooms.

Cindy Baker locates cities as Honor Society discusses plans for a field trip in the spring.

To promote the qualities of scholarship, leadership, service, and integrity, and to establish an atmosphere recognizing these qualities were the aims of Honor Society. Initiates who must present a B+ average become full-fledged members of the National Honor Society in the impressive candlelighting ceremony held every fall. Gold tassels on graduation caps distinguished members at commencement time.

Honor Society played an increasingly active and important role in Madison Heights life. Its yearly financial project, holding a soc-hop, was again for the purpose of raising funds for a scholarship.

The activities of Honor Society were many and varied. Members participated in the homecoming parade for the first time this year by entering a car float. A three-day jaunt to St. Louis, during which members viewed Gas Light Square, the zoo, a planetarium, cinerama, and the Climatron in Shaw's Botanical Gardens, highlighted the year of 1964.

Honor Society, '64 Class,

Through combined efforts, Honor Society, the Senior Class, and Student Council presented a scholarship to a worthy college-bound senior. The first year the award of $50 was given to Judy Harvey, and last year's recipient, Kathy Ortwein, received a $150 scholarship.

The senior must be in the top half of his class, have an overall personality rating of three or better, and be enrolled or planning to enroll in college.

After all applications were submitted, the three participating organizations' members and sponsors had a chance to voice opinions on the selection of a student. The faculty and administration then gave final approval of the applicant to receive the award.

Student Council, under the leadership of George Romsey, plans the Homecoming festivities in order to raise money for the scholarship.

The 1964-65 MHHS Student Council proved to be one of the most successful, well-organized councils in the history of the school. George Ramsey, Student Council president, led the council with foresight and wisdom. Throughout the year, various committees worked to improve many facets of school life. These committees made suggestions for the betterment of school atmosphere and then strived to promote many of these suggestions.

Student Council helped to make the 1964 Homecoming the largest in school history, with the gayest, brightest parade ever staged. After the game, Student Council sponsored the celebration soc-hop. In addition, this year the student government group was responsible for purchasing a new American flag to be used on the front flag pole of MHHS. The entire school, under the supervision of the council members, was decorated to reflect the sprirt of Christmas. During the school year, Student Council was responsible for conducting the election of all class officers. It also sponsored the traditional Scarlet and Black week before the basketball sectional.

Student Council gave the students an opportunity to participate in democratic government. It's actions helped in the molding of responsible future citizens.

Future doctors, nurses, dentists, or psychiatrists became better informed about the medical profession through Caduceus Medical Association. Well-known professional people spoke at each meeting, giving members a wide range of information and personal viewpoints on the various medical fields.

During the year Caduceus kept busy with a formal initiatian banquet at the King's Crown Inn, field trips, a Homecoming car float, and a Scarlet and Black Week display.

For the last three years Caduceus has taken a field trip to Chicago. At the crack of dawn club members boarded a chartered bus and arrived in the "Windy City" about five haurs later. During their stay, the group visited Cook County Hospital, the Museum of Science and Industry, and the Museum of Natural History. Curtain call! Places everyone! These exhilarating commands injected a serum of stimulation into every Thespian member. The applause, the productive efforts of the cast, and the end-product—the creation of good entertainment—combined to make every ounce of effort worthwhile.

The young actors and actresses, under the guidance of Mrs. Margaret Furnace and Mrs. Susan Davis, performed many jobs other than acting. Led by Mary Hostetler, president, the group combined hard work and talent to manufacture the first-place homecoming float, "Witch 'Em Well!". The group produced and presented Christmas programs throughout the city during the holiday season. Benefit plays and the sponsoring of the all-school talent convocation were also among their many activities.

To young people interested in imparting knowledge, the desire to learn about the teaching profession is satisfied by the Future Teachers organization.

The year began with an initiation of the new members. Candles used in the ceremony represented the light of knowledge. Initiates entertained the members with a Parisian fashion show.

Guest speakers presented information from their own special teaching areas. Mr. Brown, the band student teacher, and a Peace Corps member were two of the many interesting guests. Programs also included educational movies.

Observing classes at both Madison Heights Junior High and Roosevelt gave the members experience in classroom procedure. The senior members were able to look into the specializezd teaching methods at El Dorado.

Experiences shared by the Future Teachers often serve as further motivation toward the teaching profession.

"To further international understanding" was one of the goals of American Field Service. During the past three years AFS has grown from a small group of ten students to one of the most active groups at Madison Heights.

In the beginning the students who formed AFS had a goal in mind—that someday MH would realize the importance of knowning people from around the world. This goal has been realized, for Madison had two exchange students in 1965, and the chapter plans to broaden its program in 1966.

The student chapter worked closely with the adult AFS chapter to plan such projects as introducing the exchange students to the school and the community, planning the bus trip, and raising money.

AFS is basically a service club, serving its school and community by furthering international understanding. In order to raise money for this service, the club plans "AFS Week" every year to provide funds for the foreign visitors.

This organization has no limits to hold it back; it will continue expanding and improving because the field of international understanding is boundless.

In order to abtain the necessary funds for the summer and winter programs, AFS members sell shares costing $1.00 apiece.

Students from every corner of the world intermingled and joined with MH students in the bunny hop, making the most of their brief stay in Anderson.

Anderson was introduced to a small portion of the rest of the world this summer when 34 foreign students from 23 different lands were learning about the city. For the people involved the AFS Bus Stop at Anderson was filled with new experiences, new friends, and new ideas.

The bus trip began after the AFS students had completed a year in high schools of various American communities. The trip consisted of a United States tour which ended in Washington, D. C., where they were received by President Johnson.

The 34 students arrived in Anderson late on July 1st. Each student was assigned to a Madison Heights family. The next day the students toured Delco Remy and Anderson College. They were greeted by Mayor Frank Allis at a luncheon sponsored by two Anderson service clubs. The afternoon was devoted to relaxation and swimming, and the evening was highlighted by dancing. The foreign youths also entertained their hosts with a talent show during the evening affair. Post-party gatherings topped off the day for the visitors.

Three worlds meet as Icelandic and Japanese customs

Noko, dressed in her Japones kimono, donces to entertain her friends ond family.

Missing the Tokyo Olympics, Noriko Sonoda crossed 7000 miles of ocean to come to America to learn a new way of life. Noriko, who prefers to be called Noko, arrived in Anderson August 5, after a sight-filled bus trip from San Francisco to Chicago.

Learning new customs was not difficult for Noko. After two weeks, she had adopted the typical American attire, blue jeans and a sweatshirt, and had come to enjoy especially hot dogs, ice cream, and fried chicken.

Noko's home is located in Kumagaya-city, about 35 miles from Tokyo, the largest city in the world. Contrary to what many people believe, Japan is modernizing rapidly. Silverware is replacing chopsticks, soft mattresses are used instead of mats on the floor, and "American" clothes have been substituted for kimonos for many years.

Being an only child, Noko experienced a new type of family life, having three sisters. During her stay in the U. S., she lived with the Homer Gelling family, whose daughter Jane is a senior at Madison Heights.

Jane ond Noko help each other to ease the burden of homework.

are brought to M H

Although Madison Heights did not get two AFS students this past year as was planned, it was honored to have Inga Sigurdardottir from Iceland, coming to Anderson through the International Christian Youth Exchange (ICYE) program.

Adjusting to the United States, after living on the small island of Iceland with only 200,000 inhabitants, was quite a transformation for Inga. The high school, or "middle school" as it is called in Iceland, that Inga attended was composed of only one hundred students. But, by coming to the United States on July 16th, Inga had several weeks before school started to become familiar with the customs and language.

Inga's home is on a farm in Barkarstodum Fljotshlio, Rangarvallasysla, a town about eighty miles from Reykjavik, the capital of Iceland. Here she lives with her parents, two brothers, two sisters, and an uncle.

The Kenneth Young family adopted Inga for an entire year, and Kathy Young, a senior at MH, was Inga's American sister.

Service club assists counseling and health offices

Working as a monitor, Karen Dew collects the morning absence slips.

Dedicated to the purpose of serving others, the Service Club mode itself known in many ways at Madison Heights. Sponsored by Mrs. Granthom and Mrs. Lightfoot, it consisted of the fourteen girls who worked in the counseling and health offices.

Service Club proved to be quite helpful, performing numerous duties. These duties included onswering incoming telephone calls, moking appointments, delivering passes and messages, and working with Mrs. Grantham in the "lost and found." Teos which were held for the teachers in the fall, at Christmas, and in the spring, were also sponsored by Service Club.

Besides the numerous in-school duties performed, Service Club was active in service projects throughout the Anderson community. It gave clothing to various welfare ogencies and sent gifts to the county home at Christmas.

The purpose of this club is that of promoting and encouraging effective pubic speaking bath in and out of the school. This provides valuable training for the future in research techniques, organization, and extemporaneous speaking.

Every year, nationwide Debate Club coaches choose a topic for the clubs to discuss during that year. This year the topic was "The Control of Nuclear Weapons." In the future, the club anticipates having a varsity team which will have scheduled debates with other high school teams on a competitive basis.

"M" Club adds zealous spark to flame of school spirit

"M" club members DeWitt Weaver and Steve Moore polish the goals before basketball season.

"M" Club, an honorary varsity lettermen's club, added its spark of enthusiasm and school spirit to many Madison Heights activities. At all home basketball games a double row of lettermen formed an aisle to herald the team as it charged onto the hardwood court.

Sponsored by Mr. Bradford, MH athletic director, the boys entered a homecoming float and a Scarlet and Black Week display. In the spring, all new lettermen were initiated at a semi-formal dance.

The ultimate goal of a Madison Heights athlete in "M" Club is to win an honorary letter jacket. 1964-65 was a record year, for more boys were awarded jackets than in any previous year. The first jacket ever awarded a junior was presented to Phil Faris for his athletic excellence.

"M" Club does not function as a service club but as an honorary organization to reward hard-working boys in the sports field for achievement and success.

Pep Club finances outfits by sale of license plates

Led by the MH cheerleaders, enthusiastic Pep Club members spark the basketball team on ta victary.

Sponsored by Mrs. Adams, the 1964-65 Pep Club promoted a tremendous amount of school spirit throughout football and basketball seasons. For the first time in school history, the club was organized for the entire football season, cheering the Bucs to an undefeated record.

Colorful posters displayed in the lobbies, lively skits performed at the pep sessions, and new cheers and chants spurred Pirate vitality to an all-time high.

The block of enthusiastic girls yelled at every basketball and football game this year. Clad in black wool jumpers and white long-sleeved blouses, this section urged the Pirates on to many victories. Pirate license plates were sold during the year to finance the purchase of new outfits for sectional wear.

Active participation of Pep Club during the traditional Scarlet and Black Week ignited enthusiasm among all Pirate fans.

Cheerleaders usher strong Pirate teams to victory

In Nancy Skinner's jeep, the cheerleoders, accompanied by Mrs. Grantham, led the 1964 Homecoming Parade.

Leading our undefeated footboll team and fine basketball team, cheerleaders added pep and vitality to MH school spirit. The six girls, selected last spring by the student body, practiced many hours during the summer preparing for the football season.

Sponsored by Mrs. Grantham, the cheerleaders, Pat Hitz, Michaela McMahan, Patty Burke, Jane Gaylor, Nancy Skinner, and Bobbi Jackson, worked Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays divising new yells and improving old ones. Captain Pat Hitz, a senior who has been on the squad for three years, helped Mrs. Grantham in organizing pep sessions and yells used at the games.

In November the yell-leaders attended a National Cheerleading Convention at Indiana University. Here the girls conferred with other cheerleaders throughout the state on the latest trend in yells. Each squad did several yells which were judged for the purpose of giving helpful hints of improvement. From these hints MH varisity cheerleaders originated yells which personalized the Pirate spirit at games and pep sessions.

Mascot's gymnastic feats herald entrance of Pirates

A lively blur of scarlet and black announced the entrance of the Madison Heights Pirates at the basketball games this winter. Performing gymnastic stunts, the MH mascot rallied team and school spirit each game as he led the Bucs onto the hardwood court. Gymnastics expert Brad Carner was chosen to represent Madison Heights as Pirate mascot for the year of 1964-65. This season was the first to have such an accomplished athlete represent the school as its mascot.

Brad led the team through the victory aisle, and then performed various tumbling routines as the Corsairs spilled onto the floor, ready for action. This talented senior won many honors in gymnastics under the training and leadership of Mr. Dale Lechlitner. He was a member of the M-Club and a leading member of the gymnastics team for four years.

Mascot Brad Carner's gymnastic stunts thrilled spectators at every home basketball game.

Through able biology and physical education assistants, teachers were able to personally reach and guide more pupils and to help them with individual problems.

Bialogy assistants were chosen on scholastic achievement and leadership ability. This job actually served as a Biology II course which was helpful to college-bound students. The assistants gained not only valuable information but also experience in handling a class and in helping others.

Physical education assistants needed to have physical ability and compatability in order to work well at their jobs. These young people very often taught classes. The experience which confronted them while assisting the P.E. instructors will be valuable in the future.

Without the help of the lighting crew, the senior and junior class plays, the Spring Festival, and the half-time performances for football and basketball games would not have been possible. During each play rehearsal, crew members worked diligently trying to perfect the lighting. This hard-working team also aided the band during various concerts. These boys were the people behind the scenes, but without their ability and talent many major MH productions would have been less spectacular.

Another "behind the scenes" group was the ushers. In their red shirts and black pants, these boys maintained order during football and basketball games. Problems encountered by this working team included lost articles, lost people, and lost seats.

Both the lighting crew and the ushers filled responsible positions and performed sometimes thankless tasks well throughout the year.

Thraugh lang and tiring summer practices, MH's band abtoins symmetry af step and coherence of sound which rank them amang the state's finest.

Madison Heights' band is a unique organization to which the individual members are required to give a great deal of their time and effort. "Practice makes perfect" became a rule to strive by. Perfection became more than a mere word—but a goal. Each member played an important part in making the band known as one of the finest in the state.

Marching to a second-place finish at State Fair made the long hours of summer practice and band camp seem worthwhile. Many hours of practice were also required for football halftime presentations and special performances such as those given at Ball State.

During the basketball season the majorettes, under the direction of head majorette, Karen Dew, presented colorful, polished routines. A winter concert was presented to band parents and guests, and a fabulous "all-round" show was featured in the Spring Festival.

One of the organizations which performed in the Music Festival was the MH Dance Band. The members were chosen from the senior band by tryouts. Performing at dances throughout the city, this all-boy ensemble rendered imaginative music at social affairs and always painted a striking picture in their white dinner jackets.

In every endeavor from directing everyday practices to attending contests and special engagements, he strived to bring out the best in the band. He expected and received the utmost in attention, devotion, time, and respect from band members.

As the student head of one of the school's largest and most active organizations, drum major Steve Stickler led the marching band in its precision performances and at times assumed the direction of the band.

Among the high points of the 1964 production were the following: the lilting "Merry Widow" opera, recalled by the Concert Choir; the majorettes, in striking costumes, descending a staircase to "Lovely to Look At"; a piano concerto performed by Barbara Donnelly; the playing of the senior band; and the traditional finale, "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Choir records for city-wide beautification project

Representing MH throughout the city and the county at various musical affairs was the concert choir. Under the supervision of Mr. Andrew Brown, the choir worked to present to the public and the school 73 talented voices combined harmoniously to produce a well-balanced choir.

The group built their treasury by holding a car wash at a local shopping center. For the first time, the entire Thanksgiving convocation was a collection of sacred pieces sung by the vocalists. They also held a Christmas concert in the cafeteria. The group was asked to participate in the Christmas Community Sing at Anderson High School. Other traditional performances were at the Spring Festival, baccalaureate, and commencement.

Two small musical groups which represented Modison Heights were Highlighters and Novellettes.

Being excused from school for performonces entailed dragging white dinner jackets and semi-formal dresses to and from school, but it offered Highlighters valuable experience before the public. Future music teachers observed the formation and techniques of Highlighters at an Anderson College performance. Many civic organizations throughout the year enjoyed the musical talent of the nine girls in Novellettes.

Both groups worked diligently to obtain vocal excellence before participating in the Ensemble Contest at Ball State in January.

To edit the best Treasure Chest yet was the goal of the 1964-65 annual staff. Sue Swan, editor, and Nan Nottingham, copy editor, gained a wealth of new ideas to guide them toward a better book at the Indiana High School Journalism Institute. At the workshop, Sue and Nan both received awards, and these awards inspired the staff to strive for perfection in order to maintain the standards before them.

The staff searched for new features to make the annual more interesting and appealing to the student body. Some of the added attractions included linotype composition, spot color, and the gold medallion on the cover. Enlarging the book to collegiate size permitted the staff to paint a more complete portrait of the year.

Everyone on the staff met the deadlines exhausted, but proud of the part that he had contributed to the book as a whole. After the last deadline was completed and the book came back in May, all were rewarded with a sense of accomplishment for a job well done.

Copy staff members Nan Nottingham, Judy Dulin, Sharon Zuber, Melly Crouse, Lynn Jenkins, and Jean Doenges rush to meet a deadline.

Slimy pit awaits losers in traditional mud tug

Heave! Heave! Senior boys of the Class of '64 exerted their strength to reign victorious over the junior boys in the traditional senior week mud tug.

The tug of war has had a place in our school traditions for five years. Each team, consisting of ten students, grasped the taunt rope ten feet from the treacherous hole. At the sound of the gun, moans and groans from the strugglers were heard amidst the cries of the spectators.

Junior girls proved to be more powerful than the senior girls. Straining their muscles for what seemed like an eternity, the juniors edged the seniors into the slimy pit of mud.

Most spectators missed the real show when junior, Charles Huston, feeling guilty because he had not been pulled into the muck with the rest of his beaten comrades, took a head-first leap into the three-foot pit of mud.

What a mess! Overpowered juniors inspect the damage after their rallicking swim in the muck.

Much determinatian and perhaps even a little brawn proved ta be the winning cambination far juniar girls in the traditional juniar-senior mud tug.

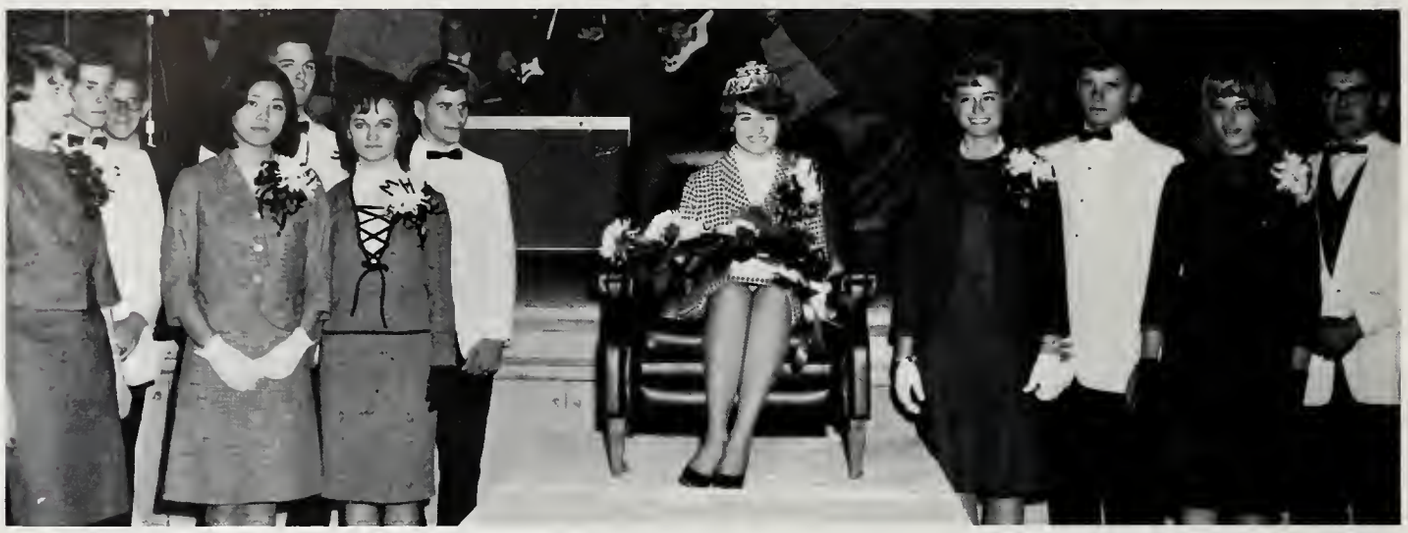
Freshman Shari Lewchanin and Thespian float, "Witch



Attended by her court of five coeds, Queen Shori reigns over the soc-hop following the eighth annuol Homecoming.

Capacity crowds filled the new Madison Heights bleachers as the undefeated Corsairs tromped the Alexandria Trojans to highlight the eighth annual Homecoming festivities. Enthusiastic spectators huddled in below-freezing weather to cheer the Pirates on to a convincing 40-12 victory.

During half-time, four queen candidates were escorted onto the field to await the final tense moments before the 1964 Homecoming Queen was announced. Smiles of approval were seen throughout the throng of fans as, for the first time in school history the freshman candidate, Miss Shari Lewchanin, was crowned Homecoming Queen. Co-captains Joe Snowden and Eric Edwards presented Queen Shari with a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums. Included in the Queen's court were the MHHS foreign exchange students, Noriko Sonoda and Inga Sigurdardottir, Nan Nottingham, Penny Taylor, and Connie Rinker.

Stage-minded juniors produce first costume play

"The queen! The queen!" Amidst the cries of exaltation, Rose, characterized by Margo Rhodes, descends the stairs in the finale of the Junior Class Play, Meet Me In St. Louis.

Bedecked in their original 1904 finery, the members of the "St. Louis" cast are Peg Stinson, George Ramsey, Phil Swank, Terry Richardson, Margo Rhodes, Steve Moore, Eric Edwards, Jay Glazer, Craig Dunkin, Rick Plummer, Pam Furnace, Darlene Marshall, Nan Nattingham, Mary Hostetler, Janie Wilkinson, Terri Applegate, and Gloria Gemberling.

Bull's eye! Taatsie leaves a nice raw of teeth marks on the boss's leg in an attempt to turn him against her father.

"Meet me in St. Louis, Louis" was the song that many juniors whistled last year as the Class of 1965 prepared its first play, Meet Me in St. Louis.

The story takes place in St. Louis in 1904, the year of the St. Louis World's Fair. The Smith family is a well-to-do, active family, but their world turns up-side-down when they discover that Mr. Smith has been transferred to New York. The four conniving daughters try every trick from derailing trolleys to dropping water balloons to convince the boss that their father does not belong in New York.

Under the direction of Mr. Bill Jennings, the "Saint Louis" cast claims the distinction of producing the first costume play in the history of Madison Heights. The costumes, characterized by long skirts and derby hats, were original 1904 creations.

Borb Spall and Perry Bush work on one of many colossal Christmas cards which later transformed the cafeteria into a winter wonderland.

Girls from the junior executive council serve the seniors at the refreshment table.

Seniors were bestowed with a beautifully decorated Christmas present on December 12, 1964—the Senior Christmas Dance. The cafeteria became the package, adorned with giant Christmas cards painted by members of the class, decorated trees, and mistletoe.

Inside the colorful package, romantic music was provided by the Delphis. Delighted by the rhythmic sounds, many couples circled the room, enjoying every minute of the affair. Others relaxed at tables decorated with pine boughs and ornaments. Red and green punch and Christmas cookies were served to the seniors by junior executive council members.

The dance, enjoyed by all couples, wouldn't have been complete without the appearance of "Old Saint Nick", and sure enough, the jolly old elf arrived and presented the seniors and their guests with candy canes.

This was the last social event in 1964 for the Class of '65. The seniors wrapped up the year with the excitement and beauty of their Christmas dance.

Seniors stage comedy for final MH curtain call

As Essie, Janie Wilkinsan flaats thraugh the hause while practicing her latest ballet step.

"You Can't Take It With You", a comical play by Mass Hart, was produced by the Senior Class for their final curtain call at Maidsan Heights.

In spite of the sudden illness of director William Jennings, the play cast met the scheduled deadline as planned. Mrs. Margaret Furnace, assisted by Mr. Henry McLain, assumed directarship, while Miss Ann Jenkins worked in costuming.

The setting far Hart's play, 1930 in New York City, sets the mood for the hilarious comedy. The Sycamores, an eccentric family af seven, believed in doing only what they enjoyed. The house in which they lived reflected their peculiar interests, far it contained a fireworks labaratary, a candy factary, a printing press, and a navelists' study.

Utter chaas resulted as unexpected dinner guests arrived to find the bewildered hasts occupied with ballet dancing, ail painting, and xylaphane practicing.

The audience never witnessed a dull moment in the entire performance. One might dispute wha had the mast fun—audience or cast.

Yearbook Queen symbolizes ideal MH senior girl

Jan Henning, escorted by Joe Snowden, reigned as queen of the 1965 Treasure Chest at the soc-hop following the Pendleton basketball game. Candidates for Yearbook Queen were escorted onto the stage by members of the varsity basketball team. Coach Howell presented Jan with a bouquet of red roses after she had been crowned by Coach Jack Wilson. The queen's court consisted of Janie Wilkinson, first runner-up, and Gloria Gemberling, second runner-up.

Beginning the tradition of having only senior girls vie for the title of Yearbook Queen, members of the annual staff selected ten girls from the Senior Class from which the student body voted to choose the queen and her court. Candidates ranked in the top third of their class scholastically and displayed the type of character and school spirit that rendered them worthy of recognition.

The seven other candidates were Cindy Baker, Brenda Dishmond, Sue Elsten, Lizann Gribben, Merrellen Hudson, Margie Kimble, and Margaret Wininger.

Avidly fervent Pirates began another rivalrous Scarlet and Black Week with posters, displays, and skits. "Pirates Climb at Tourney Time" became the basic theme around which sectional week revolved. Bumper stickers bearing the slogan were found on lockers, notebooks, and bulletin boards.

The crowning of seniors Penny Carpenter and Jay Harrison as Miss Scarlet and Mr. Black highlighted the Wednesday pep session. Adding vitality to the pep rally were the seventeen walking floats. Mrs. Furnace's senior home room 37 captured first place with "We're Dragon in a Victory," with room 40's "More Drive in '65" in second place.

Seniors garnered another first with their winning display, "Lettuce Turnip a Victory." Second place award went to Pep Club's "Spirit of MHHS."

A blanket of snow ten inches deep caused Scarlet and Black Week to be cut short, but it failed to turn away MH fans or to dampen the fiery sectional spirit.

reign over tropical "Song of the Islands"

Beckoning juniors and seniors into a tropical land of dreams and enchantment, "Song of the Islands" was the theme of the 1965 prom. Misty coral isles surrounded couples as they danced to the music of the Pastels. Regal palms, exquisite flowers, and a tranquil sea created a romantic atmosphere for dancers. So realistic were the surrounding murals that one could almost hear the surf splashing against the sandy shores of the island paradise.

The apprehension of the evening crescendoed as Craig Tunget, president of the Junior Class, crowned Janie Jaquess queen of the 1965 prom. She was attended by Vicki McQueary and Sharon Swan.

The spectacular evening caused juniors to anticipate their senior year more than ever, but seniors reluctantly watched the tropical paradise disappear as their last high school dance ended, and they proceeded into an adult society.

JR introduces Mr. and Miss Publicity to MH

Three significant feature events of the school year are the crowning of the Track Queen, the initiation of "M" Club members, and the coronation of Mr. and Miss Publicity.

Members of the MHHS track team took time out from the cinders to elect Nan Nottingham as Track Queen. Nan was one of seven girls from area schools representing their track men at the Noblesville Relays. The queens were presented mum corsages and track medallions.

Silhouetted athletes were used as decorations for the 1964 "M" Club Initiation Dance. The Delphis provided the musical portion of the evening, as approximately sixty couples danced to the melodies. New members were initiated and received their pins at the annual donce.

An innovation at MH in 1964 was the election of Mr. and Miss Publicity. Candidates were chosen by classes having a high percentage of Jolly Roger subscription sales. From six girls and six boys, three homerooms elected seniors Jane Whitehead and Gary Bute the first Mr. and Miss Publicity.

1964's varsity cross country team, led by the consistent running of Don Weathers and Jay Harrison, completed a fine season, compiling a record of five wins against four losses in regular competition.

The team, with an ample supply of speed and determination, responded to the guidance of Coach Jones by capturing the first sectional crown in the school's history with a score of 57 points. In addition, the squad placed first in the Southport Invitational with a score of 77 and third in a field of eighty schools at Shortridge with a score of 80.

Team captain Weathers capped a brilliant four-year career by setting a new school record of 9:50 at Shortridge and by finishing tenth in the state meet.

The Pirate reserve team, comprised of many talented underclassmen, posted an excellent season, compiling a record of seven wins and two losses. There were only five senior members on the year's varsity squad, so Pirate cross country fans can anticipate another outstanding season in 1965.

Caught in their proudest moment, Pirate Coaches Bruin and Baker stand speechless seconds before their unbeaten Bucs sweep them from the field.

First MH undefeated

1964 proved to be the Golden Year for football at Madison Heights. This year's varsity football team started an MH gridiron tradition by being the first to complete a season unbeaten and untied. Anderson's unblemished record against MH was marred as the Bucs ran the bruised and battered Indian arch-rivals home with a decisive 32-0 massacring. Five crew members received All-State honors: Charles Huston, Bill Plummer, Gary Bute, Phil Faris, and Steve Utley. This year's team also won the only state ratings ever bestowed upon the school in football—10th in the state.

Poised like tigers, the Bucs opened their 1964 campaign at home against the Golden Bears of Shelbyville. The Bears failed to contain the Pirates as Madison Heights roared to a 27-12 victory. With the season successfully underway, the team travelled to Indianapolis Howe and handed the Hornets a stinging 26-12 setback. Next, all efforts of the Scotch bag-pipes proved to be in vain as the Pirate crew annihilated the Highland Laddies to the tune of 41-0.

With three victories under their belts, the Bucs made cubs of the Lawrence Central Bears by crushing them 39-20. With their momentum increasing, the Pirates challenged a fine Elwood team and whipped the Panthers 13-6.

When they challenged Anderson's Indians, the Bucs started slowly, and the scoreboard at halftime read 0-0. Inspiring words from Coaches Baker and Bruin enfrenzied the potent Pirates, and they went on to massacre the Indians with a stunning 32-0 victory. This scalping of the Indians marked the first time in MH history that the Bucs had defeated the tribe on the gridiron.

Playing their second North Central Conference team in a row, the Pirates next stampeded to a lop-sided 33-0 victory over the Trojans of New Castle. Then, cheered on by an overflowing Homecoming crowd, the Pirate safari left the field with an overwhelming 40-12 victory over Alexandria's Tigers. With a perfect season in sight, the Pirates took on Fort Wayne South Side.

Madison Heights began to anticipate an unbeaten season and to prepare for that long-awaited final contest as they handed the Archers a 14-0 setback.

Pre-game tension subsided as the 10-0-bound Pirates jumped to an early lead and rolled over Noblesville's Millers. The scoreboard read 39-6, the final buzzer sounded, and thirty-one Pirates were mobbed by 4,000 of their fans as they all celebrated the first undefeated season in Madison Heights history.

After losing its first two meets to Warren Central and Concord, the Pirates started to click and reeled off victories against such rivals as Elwood, Wabash, and Angola. The Bucs then blasted Clarksville, who had finished in third place in last year's state meet, by a score of 90½ to 63½.

In addition, the Corsairs earned 58 points at the Warren Central Invitational, finishing fourth in a field of eight.

Senior Brad Carner finished the season as the team's high scorer. Though many seniors graduate this spring, there will be other team members returning, for this is a young squad, and the outlook for 1966 is bright.

The 1964-65 season provided MH fans with many thrills, among them being the Pirates' overwhelming victory over the 2nd-ranked Anderson Indians. This marked the first time in the history of the two schools that MH defeated the Tribe on the hardwood. The Pirates also scored victories over such formidable foes as Noblesville, Shelbyville, and NCC power New Castle.

The aggressive Pirates started the season off right with a blitz of victories over Markleville, Noblesville, Shelbyville, and Highland, respectively. The first quintet to repeal the slashing sword of the Pirates was the Tigers of Alexandria in a 49-48 thriller. In their next encounter, the Pirates sustained setback number two at the hands of the state-ranked Lebanon Tigers. After posting impressive wins over New Castle 97-94 and St. Mary's 76-44, the Bucs hosted Elwood, Alexandria, and Noblesville in the Holiday Tourney. In the first game, the Pirate ship set sail too late and lost a close one to Alexandria 60-58. The Corsairs sparked up in the consolation game and whipped the Noblesville Millers 82-72.

In the 1965 opener, the mighty Elwood Panthers, ranked fifth in the state, staged off a Pirate rally and defeated the Bucs 73-66. Bouncing back, MH clobbered the Pendleton Irish. After losing games to Fort Wayne South and Crawfordsville, the Corsairs ventured home determined to do what no other MH cage team had done before—defeat the Anderson Indians on the hardwood. With school spirit culminating to its highest, the Pirates took the floor against the taller tribe. Drawing first blood and never being surpassed, the rampaging Pirate crew could not be stopped as they handed the tribe a stinging 64-61 defeat. Back on the road, the Wilsonmen faltered against Marion and North Central of Indianapolis. Returning to their own goalary, the Pirates trounced Lapel 80-60 and Frankton 84-57. Coach Dave Nicholson's 1964-65 Pirate wrestling team compiled a respectable record of five wins and seven losses. This record seems more impressive when one realizes that this year the Bucs grappled some of the finest teams in the state.

The 1965 squad was again paced by seniors Tom Adams, Dave Bertram, Steve Delph, Paul Griner, Randy Hughes, Don Jones, Larry Maguire, Mike Robinson, and Doug Sparks. Delph finished second in this year's sectional in the 95-pound class, while as a team the Bucs captured fifth place. The Corsairs also participated in the Anderson and Carmel Tourneys, capturing fourth and third places respectively.

The squad, composed of seniors Bill Bardsley and Rick Sears, juniors Paul Moody and Jay Glazer, and sophomore Neal Spannuth, blasted such highly touted rivals as Anderson, North Central, St. Mary's, and New Castle. In a fitting conclusion to a fine season, the Corsairs carried off second place in the sectional with a score of 324. The team went on to seize sixth in the state meet with a score of 316, led by Bill Bardsley's 74.

The Bucs graduated three senior lettermen, but the rest of the team will be returning, along with the reserve squad, which went undefeated in six matches. This makes prospects bright for a state championship in 1965.

Pirate Cindermen crush seven school records

Speedy Pirate standouts Ron Simmons and David Bertram practice before a meet to perfect the baton hand-off.

With a fine record of seven wins and one defeat, the Pirate track team of 1964 achieved an outstanding season. Six of the Pirates fought their way to the state meet. The top place in the state contest was seized by junior Charles Huston who grabbed second in the shot put. In the initial part of the season, the Pirate half-mile relay team, composed of Bandy, Sloane, Miller, and Busby, paced all prep teams in that event, but failed to qualify for the state meet.

Throughout the year, Charles Huston repeatedly fractured individual shot put records, climaxing the season with a record-breaking heave of 59′1½″. Huston also grabbed first-place honors in the Hoosier Relays. Another frequent record breaker was senior Terry L. Busby, who sprinted to seventh in the state meet in the high hurdles event. He crushed the school record in this event with a time of 14.9 seconds and also held the low hurdle record of 20.0 seconds. Junior Don Weathers carried the load in the distance events by periodically breaking the school record in the mile run.

The Pirate team of 1964 possessed tremendous balance throughout the season in both the running and field events. This factor made the Pirate team a formidable foe in any circle of competition.

Potent Pirates slash Anderson 15-0 and win

Jae Snowden rests on first bose after hammering out o single.

Under the guidance of Coach Paul Bradford, the 1964 Madison Heights baseball team compiled an impressive record of eleven wins and two losses.

The timely hitting of Joe Snowden, Perry Bush, and Randy Williams helped to make 1964 the best season in school history. Outstanding mound work from Paul Moody, Mike Utley, and Phil Towler also contributed greatly to a winning seasan. The Bucs scored at will against their opponents as they collected a tatal of 101 runs while their foes were limited to a mere 41 runs.

The high point of the campaign came when the Corsairs took on the highly regarded Anderson Indians and thoroughly trounced the aborigines 15-0 behind the brilliant one-hit pitching of Paul Moody.

Coach Bradford anticipates an even better season in 1965 with all but three lettermen returning. He is also counting on fine reserve talent. With this in mind, MHHS can expect a top notch team in 1965.

Robert Collier serves ninth year as MH principal

The direct responsibility for the administration of Madison Heights, 1,705 students and 72 teachers ultimately falls upon Principal Robert E. Collier. His effective direction stems from the ability to focus his attention on every aspect of high school life—from schedule-planning to innumerable extra-curricular activities—without losing sight of the individual student's interests. He has gained and maintained the respect of student and teacher alike by exemplifying the high ideals of competition and sportsmanship which he strived to sustain in every phase of the school's existence.

Mr. Collier received his A.B. degree from Indiana Central and his M.A. from Ball State Teachers College. He served seventeen years as a bosketball coach and has served nine years as principal of Madison Heights High School.

Behind Mr. Collier is a hard-working administration. With its help, he acted in the best possible way to provide many opportunities to the students. In 1965 the leaders of Madison Heights and Anderson High Schools worked together in establishing a united management in the city system.

Devoted administration members capably performed their services by directing the students in a daily program of education. Through the efforts of the administration, Madison Heights students were given the opportunity to acquire a well-rounded program both in academics and in extra-curricular activities. For those who were willing to work, a wealth of knowledge and guidance was waiting.

Scratch the green rind of a sapling, or wantonly twist it in the soil,
and a scarred or crooked oak will tell of the act for centuries to come.
So it is with the teachings of youth,
which makes impressions on the mind and heart that are to last forever.

In the fall of 1961 over 500 freshmen scurried through the halls of MHHS. As the four years flew quickly by, their pace slowed, their number diminished, and their pride and prestige increased with every turn in the road of experience. From 1961 until 1965, when the Class of '65 marched down the aisle to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," their class was labeled as a class of "firsts."

The seniors turned and quickly viewed the successive steps to graduation. As freshmen, the class of '65 overcame the obstacles of beginning high school. As sophomores, Madison Heights' largest class furthered their unity and organization by choosing class colors, rings, and jackets. The junior year found them busily adding texture and color to their brief history. Enthusiastically they began the year with diligent work on their homecoming float. Then, the "Meet Me in St. Louis" cast completely stunned their audience with the outstanding production of MH's first costume play. But the climax of an eventful junior year was their prom, the largest ever staged. Both juniors and seniors were awed as they stepped into a paradise of "Moonlight and Roses."

Those years were prologue to this, their "finest hour." As seniors, examples of Madison Heights' personality and ability, they set precedents in every field. Their achievements in scholastic competition such as the National Merit Scholarship Contest left an ideal example for future classes. They established trends by taking up such fads as knitting and wearing textured hose and madras clothes. Their hilarious comedy, "You Can't Take it With You", was enjoyed by underclassmen and adults alike and was as much fun for the seniors as it was for the audience. The largest Senior Christmas Dance ever held added a festive note to the holiday season. Six foot Christmas cards, painted by individual students, were used to decorate the dance floor at the annual affair.

As the end of the year approached, commencement, summer plans, and college choices dominated the mind of every senior. Senior Week, preceded by the prom, was the perfect end to twelve long years. Then on June 9, in royal blue gowns, the Class of 1965 received their diplomas, completing their last act as seniors of Madison Heights High School.

So, behind the Class of'65 was a list of accomplishments they could be proud of, but ahead lay the future: careers, vocations, and college.

Junior Class officers, Ken Bowman, vice-president, Melly Crause, treasurer, Sharan Swan, secretary, and Craig Tunget, president, manage the sales af concessions at basketball games.

Realizing that the junior year marked another important milestone in their high school career, the Class of 1966 worked diligently, determined to make the year one of its best.

The juniors strived to meet the high academic standards set for them by the Class of 1965. One of their goals was to become better students and better citizens in the community.

After the arrival of their wine and white colored class jackets and sweaters, the year rushed by. The juniors proved that they could work well together when they displayed a spirit-boosting homecoming float. As basketball season progressed, the juniors earned money for their class treasury by selling concessions. Casting, rehearsing, and selling tickets for the Junior Class Play added a new kind of excitement to the school year.

After the students spent many weeks preparing and planning, the Junior-Senior Prom lived up to all expectations. The climax of the evening came with the much-anticipated crowning of the 1965 Prom Queen.

That once in a life time feeling of being a freshman has now worn off. Although the sophomore year is often considered to be a vacuum of inaction, the Class of 1967 belied that belief with enthusiasm.

The sophomores began a bustling year by electing class officers and executive council members. Selection of the council members was a momentous decision, for these representatives of the homerooms supervised all the class activities, including the selection of class colors. The executive council also chose the style of the all-important class rings, the status symbol of an upperclassman.

The sophomores' first taste of group effort and cooperation came while they were producing a homecoming float. An eye-catching Scarlet and Black Week display was the claimant of many after-school hours during the sectional season.

For the Class of 1967, ordering of class jackets and sweaters was a significant act. These garments will be worn with pride throughout high school.

Freshmen biology students carefully scrutinize the progress of the hampsters which thrive under student care.

Physical education, a requirement for freshmen, provides an outlet from the mental exertion of classes.

Spark and enthusiasm characterized the freshman class throughout the yeor. It was a year during which new friends were made, increased responsibility was occepted, and a new scope an life wos goined.

The freshmen met for the first time as a class to choose cheerleaders. Class originolity and individuolity were displayed during Homecoming festivities ond Scarlet and Black Week.

From insect ond leof collections to physicol fitness tests, the freshmon year passed quickly and then drew to a close with the expectations of summer vacotion and the yeors ahead.

Each yeor outstonding seniors address the incoming freshmen closs about high school.

Saluting the school in song, freshmen "raise the roof" at a pep session.

- Susie -
To one of the sweetest
and cutest girls I know.
Always stay the same sweet girl you are now. Good luck in the future with everything.
Love,
Darlene

-Susie-
A real sweet &
nutty gal that I've had loads of fun with.
I hope we're friends
forever.
Love ya,
